Full pro bono rankings announced

Published 12 June 2008

This year, LATINLAWYER has launched pro bono rankings for firms in the region, to allow clients and competitors to compare firms' commitment to providing pro bono work.

In the last edition of LATINLAWYER Magazine we published a ranking table of the top 15 firms for pro bono commitment in the region. The article and analysis will be published online tomorrow.

Below is an expanded version of that table, with the top 50 firms listed. Firms are ranked according to the "pro bono score" we have given, which combines a number of factors. Points were given firstly for the number of pro bono hours averaged across each lawyer in the firm. Other points were given according to the percentage of lawyers providing more than 20 hours per year to pro bono clients, with a heavier weighting of points going to firms in which a high percentage of partners provided more than 20 hours per year.

Our thanks go to all firms that took part.
